(54) Title: METHOD FOR PROVIDING JUKEBOX SERVICE USING NETWORK

WO 2005/045694 A1

(57) Abstract: In the prior art, there is a limitation in providing services, such as a jukebox service, using a network, such as the Internet. The jukebox service provision method of the present invention uses a jukebox terminal (160) provided with an RF transmission means (165). The jukebox terminal (160) accesses a server (110) to transmit the authentication information therefor and receives a playlist from the server. The jukebox terminal (160) requests one or more the server, receives the requested sound source data in the received playlist from the server, receives the requested sound source date and transmits the received sound source data to an audio system (170) using the RF transmission means (165).
